Dave Hickson, died aged 83. Code NA

Farewell to a Mersey legend

MERSEYSIDE is in mourning after hearing about the death of former football legend Dave Hickson at the age of 83. Known by fans as the 'Cannonball Kid' for his powerful shot into the back of the net, he was only one of two players to compete for all three Merseyside teams. After playing for Liverpool, Everton and Tranmere throughout his professional career, the striker retired but recently passed away on July 8 due to illness. He shot into stardom when he first appeared for Everton in 1951 where he scored over 100 goals for the Blues during his four year reign before a playing a short spells at Aston Villa and Huddersfield. Flags were flown at half mast at Goodison Park yesterday (Tuesday, July 9).

LUCKY ESCAPE

The fire when it was out of control as viewed from the Wirral

Firefighters breathe a sigh of relief as an out of control blaze narrowly misses aerosol factory

by Holly Rummens

A HUGE blaze caused by a Kirkdale skip fire dominated the Liverpool skyline as seven fire crews battled to stop the flames from spreading to a highly flammable recycling plant nearby. Sighting of an ominous-looking black smoke cloud could be seen from all across the city, with many train users on Merseyrail's Northern Line telling how they had to travel through clouds of smoke between Bank Hall and Sandhills stations. One Twitter user stated he "could feel the heat of the fire as the train drove past." The fire, which started at midday on Friday, July 5, on Redfern Street, Kirkdale, was considerably out of control at one point with fire fighters struggling to contain the fire and prevent it spreading to a nearby aerosol recycling plant. Fire crews had to draw water from the Liverpool to Leeds canal in an attempt to control the fire as only one fire engine was available to get close enough to the scene. The fire was contained by 5pm on Friday evening, with no reports of anyone being injured. Fire crews were joined by police officers at the scene, who were directing traffic on Brasenose Road and Bankhall Street. Group manager Guy Keen, from Merseyside Fire and Rescue said at the time: "Firefighters are tackling a fire involving a large quantity of plastic bales, which created a plume of smoke visible from Liverpool city centre. "The fire was in an area of waste materials which measures around 20 metres by 20 metres and around six metres high."

Scrambler bikes are becoming an increasing menace

Warning over scrambler bikes

Report by Holly Rummens

WITH the summer holidays around the corner, Merseyside police are increasingly concerned over the criminal and anti-social use of scrambler bikes being used across North Liverpool.

Last year two people were killed on our roads in Fazakerley and Walton as a result of incidents involving scrambler bikes.

In a six week summer crackdown, officers are intending to pay particular attention to roads, parks and any land which the public have access to, to prevent the use of illegal or anti social use of scramblers.

Over the last year it has become apparent that many of these riders have a complete disregard for decent, law abiding members in their community, and with light nights approaching it is likely that riders might be tempted to ride them more often, causing disruption to our local communities.

Operation Brookdale will centre off areas across Liverpool where communities have suffered from the illegal and anti social use of scrambler and quad bikes.

Neighbourhood officers in all of the basic command units will be supported by officers from the specialist Matrix team, Roads Policing Department, Vehicle Crime and the mounted and dog sections.

During the operation a number of activities will take place, including quad bike patrols, more enforcement of traffic laws and better education in schools about the dangers of these bikes and the laws surrounding their use.

Chief Superintendent Jon Ward, area

Police launch campaign to crack down after two people were killed commander for Liverpool North, said: "Merseyside Police will not tolerate the illegal, or anti social use of scrambler, or quad bikes.

"Sometimes the riders of these bikes don't understand the consequences for local communities and the harm that the use of these bikes can cause.

"In the wrong hands these bikes are potentially lethal and people need to understand the legislation in relation to where they can ride these bikes legally, and the potential consequences of driving these bikes irresponsibly."

He continued: "Working together with local people and partner agencies, we are determined to tackle riders who are blighting our neighbourhoods. Our communities should be reassured that Merseyside Police is working hard to take nuisance vehicles and the criminals who use them off our roads.

"Anyone who takes to the roads illegally and poses a danger to pedestrians and other motorists on our roads, risks losing their licence and if their reckless driving results in injury or death they will face a prison sentence. My message to these people is Ask yourself – is it worth the risk?"

Boy finds syringe in crisps

A 14-YEAR-OLD boy was left in shock after he found half a syringe in a packet of crisps. The discovery was made after his dad bought the multi packet of flamed grilled steak flavoured McCoy's crisps purchased from a Farmfoods store, on Breck Road, Anfield.

Environmental health officers are now dealing with the complaint and are investigating how the half plastic syringe, without the needle ended up inside the multi-pack.

Liverpool city council spokesperson said: "A complaint has been received which is being investigated by environmental health officers who will advise the customer about what steps can be taken."

Food Standards Agency advised customers that this incident is not related to the recall of the McCoy's crisp that happened in March this year. After small pieces of plastic were found amongst its cheese and onion, salt and vinegar and mixed variety packs, although not the steak flavour.

A KP Snacks spokesperson said they will be investigating thoroughly.

Just like the Bronx

Resident reaction to crimewave which shows 751 incidents in just one month – but community leaders hail youth progress

Report by Holly Rummens

RESIDENTS have compared living in Anfield to life in a crime-ridden New York borough as a summer wave of burglary and antisocial behaviour continues to rise across the city.

The most recent figures showed that in May 2013 there were 751 incidents reported to police in Anfield alone, which was over 140 higher than in April and nearly 50 incidents higher than in May the previous year.

The data, seen by the Champion, also shows that antisocial behaviour was the highest reported crime with County Road being a clear hotspot.

Police also confirmed that this summer they have seen a large number of burglaries on Priory Road and Walton Breck Road.

One Priory Road resident, who doesn't want to be named, said: "I have often woken up to see my local newsagents with bricks through its windows, or my wife's car being broken into and stolen."

"We have all learned to live with the crime, we expect it every day that something is going to happen. Its not unusual to have crime incidents every day or even just a few days apart, it is very frequent.

"I have been living in Anfield for more than 30 years and it is the worst I have ever seen now more than ever, it was never this bad when I first moved here.

"It is going further and further downhill, everyone I have spoken to compares it to living in Chicago or the Bronx."

Statistics showed that County Road was the worst street in the area with 20 crime incidents happening throughout May, most commonly being shoplifting due to the number of stores along the road.

But Ruth Little, manager of Anfield Breck Community Centre, said work is being done to tackle younger criminals.

She said: "We have active residents groups and often meet up with Merseyside Police on a regular basis to try and tackle crime in our area, and we have built up a great youth programme through this."

"When we receive resources or funding we always use it to provide activities and training for young people in the community as a way to keep them off the streets and it gives them encouragement for the future."

County Road had 20 crime incidents

"There is always a misconception that all young people in Anfield are bad but it is only a small minority, most of the criminal element is adult pressure on young children."

"At Anfield Breck Community Centre we always try to look at the positives and boost the fantastic community spirit we have, Anfield is known for receiving bad press and soon the residents start to believe what they read, so we are constantly working to train people and make them believe in themselves."

Speaking on the crime rates in Anfield, a Merseyside Police spokesperson said: "We have officers patrolling the area around Anfield on a daily basis, and have placed crime prevention leaflets on vehicles parked around the area, advising drivers to be aware of thieves."

"Attention has been paid particularly around the areas of Priory Road and Walton Breck Road as these areas have been subject to a number of burglaries."

Family saved after arson attack

A SUSPECTED arson attack on a property in Walton left a man and two children in shock after they were nearly caught in the blaze.

Fire crews from Kirkdale Community fire station attended the scene on Lind Street, near County Road on Wednesday, June 26, after neighbours raised the alarm.

Fire fighters rescued a man from the targeted house and found two children, thought to be a 14-year-old girl and eight-year old-boy in the back yard.

Two pet dogs were also rescued from the fire after being found in an upstairs bedroom whilst safety checks were being conducted on the property to ensure no one else was in the property.

Merseyside Fire and Rescue received the call at around 2.15am and after locating the fire on the ground floor it was extinguished an hour later. Firefighters believe it could have been a suspected arson attack started with an accelerant, possibly petrol.

Onlookers gather to get a glimpse of the whale's carcass

Whale on beach

by David Raven

A MINKE whale washed up on Crosby beach on Saturday morning.

Crosby Coastguard team received a call from Port of Liverpool staff who claimed a strange object was floating in the water.

Upon further inspection the object turned out to be the carcass of a young minke whale around 9ft long.

Minke whales feed on small shoaling fish and are common in the Irish Sea. It is believed the whale died before it washed up on the beach.

Crosby Coastguard team cordoned off the area and on Sunday, Sefton Council representatives visited the site and removed the carcass by towing it with a tractor to avoid any unpleasant smells.

A spokesman for Sefton Council said: "The dead whale was washed up on Saturday and our rangers arranged for a specialist contractor to remove the carcass on Sunday morning

"With such high temperatures, it was important that the whale was removed as quickly as possible, as it would soon have become very smelly and unpleasant for the thousands of people who visited the beach on Sunday."

A Liverpool Coastguard spokesperson said: "We were sent to the scene from a public safety point of view."

"We were called to reports of a strange object in the water so we assigned the Crosby coastguard rescue team to go and have a search."

"The object turned out to be a minke whale and we passed the responsibility onto Sefton Council."

Is that 999? I want to report a duck with a sore leg!

POLICE are reminding Sefton residents of their non-emergency telephone number after a woman called 999 to report 'a duck with a sore leg'.

The clip, which has been uploaded to Youtube, sees a distressed woman ringing the emergency services after she spotted the injured animal in the middle of the road.

She said: "Right what it is I'm on Prescott Road right, there's a duck here in the middle of the road and it's going to get run over and it's hurt its leg and I don't know what to do."

The operator responds: "A duck with a sore

Woman's phone call to emergency services is just quackers!

leg?!" The woman replied: "Oh it's coming back to the main road - stay there - ah all right stay there, it doesn't know what to do."

The operator replied politely: "Okay the police don't normally deal with ducks you see, I can give you a telephone number for the RSPCA if you are concerned with regards to the injured duck."

Noel Keville, call handling team leader said: "It is understandable that people may call 999, even if the call is not an emergency, it's easy to remember and wherever you are you can talk to the police."

"The introduction of 101 should mean that people across the board get the best possible service from the force."

You can listen to the call on the Champ's website at www.champnews.com

Dazzling students

Hannah Fox modelling a circus outfit,

SACRED Heart College's Prep Hall was full to the brim with art displays last Tuesday as the annual Art and Design Technology Exhibition took place.

The exhibition displayed some 'truly amazing' work from GCSE, A Level and Btec students.

Event organiser Mrs Campbell enthused: "Once again, our students have not disappointed."

"The standard of work was as high as ever and it has been a privilege to watch the students build up such impressive portfolios."

Other students from Sacred Heart have also been maintaining these high standards.

Katy Marsh, Lily Spiers, Sam D'Auvin and Phil Richards provided the musical entertainment at Jospice's recent Summer Tea.

The event was an opportunity for residents and their families to come together to reflect and give thanks.

Jospice's landscaped grounds were filled with musical performances whilst people gathered, chatted and had a drink on what turned out to be a perfect summers day.

Head of Music Mr. Foy said: "As usual, the students were more than happy to help in the community and were a real credit to the College both in terms of their musical performance and their caring Christian attitude."

MP calls for organ transplant review

by Holly Rummens

NEW figures show that one in three people suffering with cystic fibrosis will die whilst on the transplant waiting list.

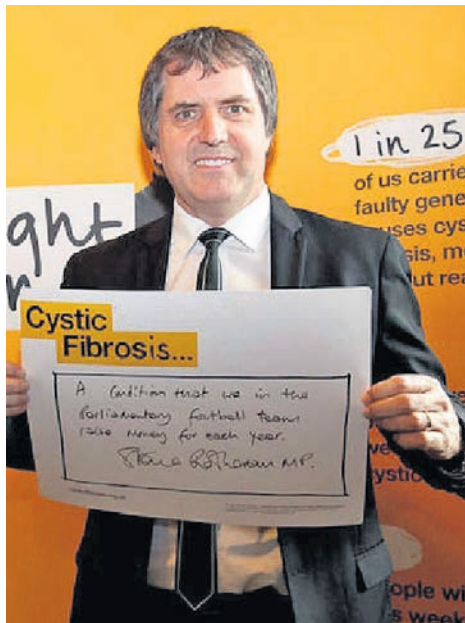

With around 10,000 people in the UK suffering with the disease, cystic fibrosis week, running from June 24 – 30, took on the challenge to help raise awareness about the disease.

Walton Labour MP Steve Rotheram attended an event held at the House of Commons where it highlighted some of the major issues surrounding the disease and the problems people living with cystic fibrosis have to deal with on a daily basis.

Steve Rotheram met with representative and families affected by cystic fibrosis, he explained: "I was delighted to attend this event and learn first hand some of the issues that affect my constituents living with cystic fibrosis. I was also able to learn about the work of the Cystic Fibrosis Trust and find out more about their open consultation looking at the issues affecting the number of lung transplants for people with cystic fibrosis."

"Too many people with cystic fibrosis are waiting for lungs that will never arrive and they will die on the waiting list. I am delighted to be supporting this issue and the national consultation which is looking at how transplantation rates can be improved for people with cystic fibrosis."

A spokesperson from Cystic Fibrosis charity

Steve Rotheram MP at the Cystic Fibrosis event. Code NA

said: "New treatments and better clinical care are helping people with cystic fibrosis to live longer but many will still reach a point where their only hope is a double lung transplant."

ASDA card conman is caught out

A TECHNICAL loophole in the use of an ASDA gift card enabled a fraudster to purchase nearly £1,500 worth of goods, without paying for them.

Dylan Towers, 26, appeared in custody at Sefton Magistrates on July 5, and pleaded guilty to fraudulently using a Text Santa Gift Card at three different ASDA stores, between December 2012 and March 2013, to a total value of £1,465 – including £587.91 from the Bootle ASDA store.

Prosecutor Lynne Ingman, told the court that Towers, who is currently serving a 12 month sentence at HMP Altcourse for similar matters, went into the stores – the others being at Garston and Hunt's Cross – to purchase goods using the gift card.

She said that if the card failed to swipe and is then used by typing in the numbers the money is not debited from the account.

"It is known to the security services that this fraud can happen", she said.

Towers was caught after staff at ASDA studied stills from their CCTV and notified police.

Mr Kieley, representing him said that he'd been imprisoned just the day before at Manchester Crown Court.

He said the fraud was a "loop hole that can be taken advantage of".

Magistrates sentenced him to three months custody for each of the three offences, with each to run concurrently with his present sentence. They said weren't able to order costs or compensation at the time due to Towers being in custody.

Top circus juggler wows crowds

Report by Evelyn Robinson

THE sun shone down on a vibrant circus scene at Merchant Taylors' junior and infant schools last week.

Clowns, ring masters, dancers and lions paraded around the playground ready to get creative with mask making, cupcake decorating and face painting as part of Stanfield's Circus Day.

Audiences were also surprised with a special guest, Britain's Got Talent semi-finalist Thomas Bounce, who wowed them with his jaw-dropping juggling skills before teaching the pupils some basics.

The Big Top at the end of the playground hosted some spectacular unicycling, baton-twirling and plate-spinning, along with parachute games and balloon modelling for all the children.

Mrs Rebecca Loan, Year 2 teacher at Merchant Taylors', said: "The children had an absolute ball."

Man who made four hoax 999 calls 'put lives at risk'

Report by Court reporter

A man who made a series of hoax calls to police has been advised to get legal representation as magistrates told him the starting sentence for the offence was 12 weeks custody.

Appearing at Sefton Magistrates on July 3 John Devin, 23, of Plemont Road, Old Swan, pleaded guilty to making four 999 calls at various locations in Bootle, which were false and caused annoyance and inconvenience to the police.

The court heard that Devin made the first of his calls at 2.48am on June 15, claiming that he and his friends had been assaulted.

He gave a description of the alleged assailant and police made a vain search for him.

Shortly afterwards he made another call, from a different phone box, claiming that the assailant was now following him and carrying a sharp item.

Minimum sentence for crime is 12-weeks in prison after repeated false attack claims

Then again, just before 4 am at another phone box, this time giving a false name and address, he called 999 to say that a friend had been stabbed.

Then finally he phoned again at 4am to say a male had been stabbed outside the Aintree public house, Aintree Road, Bootle.

This time Devin was still at the scene when the police attended.

Lynne Ingman, prosecuting, said he told police that his friends had got into a fight, when one got stabbed.

However, the officers could find no evidence of there being a fight or of any blood being shed.

"Clearly he was in state of drunkenness", she said, "And he was arrested in relation to that."

During interview he denied that he had made hoax calls but after tape recordings of the calls were played to him, he confessed.

"He said he had been daft and did not know why he had done it", she said.

She added that he knew he was wasting valuable police time and resources and "He knew he may have put other lives at risk."

Since Devin had chosen to appear without the aid of solicitor, he was asked if he had anything to say but declined.

The magistrates warned him of the seriousness of the crime, saying: "The starting point is 12 weeks custody."

Postponing sentencing until July 23 for a probation service report they advised him to get a solicitor in the meantime.

Investigation launched after shooting incident

A MAN walked into a Liverpool hospital on Tuesday, July 2 with gunshot wounds to his arms and abdomen following a shooting in Netherton.

Merseyside Police have launched a full investigation after the 24-year-old man presented himself to nurses with firearm injuries at around 8pm.

His injuries are not life threatening at this time and he remains in a stable condition in hospital.

Minutes before at 7.50pm a report was received of shots being fired on Poulson Drive in Netherton, with a white Renault Laguna found abandoned on Ford View in Bootle.

Both scenes are in the process of being examined, house-to-house enquiries are underway and CCTV footage is being sought.

Detectives are in the process of investigating to see if all three incidents are linked.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Merseyside Police on 0151 777 567 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Steer clear of pay day loan firms warning

Report by David Raven

SEFTON Credit Union is urging people to steer clear of pay day loan companies.

Credit unions are member-owned financial organisations that are democratically controlled by their members and registering will let you benefit from low interest rates.

In the past two months credit unions have been backed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Justin Welby, the Church of England and Government ministers.

Sefton Credit Union director, Patrick McParland said: "It is a well-known fact that pay day loan companies exploit people when they are at their most desperate times."

"But the advantage of a credit union is that not only do we meet their short-term needs, but we also try to help them get their whole financial life back on track for the long term. Once people have signed up and established their savings with us then they can borrow generally around twice as much as they have saved."

"It costs £5 for a lifetime membership but up to £85,000 worth of savings is guaranteed by the Government in exactly the same way as Barclays or the Nationwide building society."

Vulnerable

"While pay day loan companies offer APR interest rates of 5,800%, we offer loans for as little as 2% per month on the diminishing balance."

The Minister for Welfare Reform, David Freud announced an investment of £38m in credit unions in April to help them offer a viable alternative to pay day loan companies.

Mr Freud said: "Credit unions offer an alternative to vulnerable people who have few safe options to get cash when they need it most. They are the antidote to predatory loan sharks or high-interest lenders."

Sefton Credit Union have two offices, one in Bootle Town Hall and the other on St John's Road in Waterloo. You can find them by calling 0151 9344563 or 0151 928 9471.

Jamie joins NHS staff for sports event

HUNDREDS of NHS staff from across the North West competed in an Olympic-style sports day in Merseyside recently.

Around 300 doctors, nurses, porters and ambulance staff came from 14 NHS trusts in Merseyside, Greater Manchester, Lancashire and Cheshire to compete at Kirkby Sports College on Sunday June 30.

Former Liverpool FC and England football player Jamie Carragher presented prizes and congratulated everyone who took part.

Jamie said: "It is great to see so many NHS staff enjoying a day of sport."

I think the health service does a great job and I am delighted to be a part of the day."

Teams and individuals competed against each other in football, netball, badminton, table tennis and rounders.

The NHS North West Games has won a national excellence award from the Healthcare People Management Association for improving health and wellbeing.

North West Ambulance Service NHS Trust, Alder Hey Children's NHS Foundation Trust and MerseyCare NHS Trust are just a few of the trusts that took part in the games.

The games were led by HR Director Amanda Oates from The Walton Centre NHS Foundation Trust and coordinated by a group of staff from the participating trusts.

Amanda said: "It was a fantastic day. Everyone who took part really embraced the spirit of the event."

The HPMA Excellence in HRM NHS Health at Work Network and

Consultant Neurologist Anu Jacob from the Walton Centre takes part in the badminton event

Syngentis Award is the result of great team-work by the energetic and enthusiastic members of the NHS North West Games Steering Group.

"I would like to pay tribute to the role they have all played in making this Olympic legacy event such a big success."

cannabis to treat his epilepsy sentencedReport by
Our Court Reporter

A MAN found in possession of a "couple of hundreds of pounds worth" of cannabis has argued that he used the drug to self-medicate for epilepsy.

Ronald Riley, 37, of Ryefield Lane, Litherland, pleaded guilty to possession of the class B drug at Sefton Magistrates on July 5.

Prosecutor Lynne Ingman told the court that his home had been searched by police with a warrant on March 20 and that a "number of items were found". Among them two plastic tubs containing 19 bags of vegetable matter.

Altogether there was 132g of cannabis, which she said "was not an insignificant amount".

Following his arrest on suspicion of possessing with intent to supply, he told police

"it was for his own personal use, including all the money that was found in the property", she said.

Ingman told the court that Riley had a previous conviction for possession and also one for intent to supply, for which he received a suspended sentence in 2010.

Mr Kielty representing him said: "What he said at interview has been accepted. That he self-medicates for epilepsy which is the reason why there is such a volume.

"It assists him with the condition, though he knows that it has a detrimental affect on his health."

Sentencing him to six months supervision, the magistrates advised him to use the voluntary Single Point of Assessment services of Bootle's Health and Well-being Centre, which was recommended to him following a stand-down probation service report.

Hundreds of students sent wrong results

HUNDREDS of students at the University of Liverpool were sent the wrong exam results after an email blunder.

Many students awoke recently to receive results with different names and subjects to the ones they were studying.

Shortly afterwards the university admitted there was a 'technical problem' that resulted in 'incorrect information' being sent.

A Liverpool University spokesperson said: "We experienced a technical problem when sending students their exam results this morning which resulted in students receiving the wrong email.

"As soon as the University identified the problem, the process of issuing emails with exam results was stopped and so the majority of students have not yet received any email."

Ability Counts!

LFC Foundation awards ceremony.

Code NA

A SPECIAL event was held to commemorate the achievements of children and adults from Liverpool FC Foundation's disability football programme, Ability Counts.

More than 180 children and adults attended the evening held at Anfield stadium, with players and their parents enjoying an evening of entertainment in the Champion's Suite for their end of season awards ceremony.

All participants received medals, while a select few were presented with a special accolade for Player of the Season award.

Ability Counts was formed in 2004 and is part of the Foundation's 'Football for All' programme providing young people and adults with additional needs the opportunity to play football at a competitive level.

The teams all compete at regional level and some adult players are given the chance to play at international level in Switzerland this summer in European Disabled Cup.

Liverpool FC Foundation disability coach,

Report by Holly Rummens

Ryan Moignard, said: "Tonight is a celebration of the whole season and a chance to get the players, parents, carers and everyone together, to reward them for their commitment to the programme."

"It's about recognising their achievements and highlights over the last year. The players' attendance, attitude and effort have been outstanding and we are delighted to be able to honor them tonight."

Several Ability Count's stars have progressed significantly from players and have started coaching for the programme, while others have gone on to play at elite level of disability football by competing for England.

The Foundation's disability programme is one of its flagship initiatives and has been running for more than 12 years.

Seasonal Park and Ride service open

Southport's seasonal park and ride service is open during weekends, school holidays and public holidays.

Kew Park and Ride is aimed at motorists from Maghull, Ormskirk, West Lancashire and beyond – and is based off the A570 at Foul Lane, near Kew roundabout.

At just £1.50 per car – per day, the facility is one of the cheapest in the country with frequent buses running into the town centre. It also boasts a modern visitor centre with indoor waiting area, toilets and baby changing facilities.

The service operates during weekends and school/public holidays until Sunday, September 29, 2013. When open, the operating hours are Monday to Saturday, 8.30am-6.30pm, and 10am-6.30pm on Sundays and Bank Holidays.

Further information on opening times and dates is available at www.visitseftonandwestlancs.co.uk

Kew Park and Ride has re-opened thanks to a successful bid for external funding from the Department for Transport's Local Sustainable Transport Fund. This is being delivered through the VISIT project – 'Visitors In Sustainable Integrated Transport.'

Thanks to external, ring-fenced funding we are again able to open Kew Park and Ride to support the Southport visitor economy during peak periods. Southport is a very important tourism and shopping destination and this inevitably causes some traffic congestion at busier times. Kew Park and Ride reduces traffic in the resort and offers a cheaper and stress-free alternative to parking in the town centre. If people are travelling in along the A570 I would really encourage them to follow the signs and try out this excellent facility.

More apartments would help save our green belt

So, Sefton is running out of land for housing?

What they mean is that they're running out of space for yet more dismal semi detached housing estates.

A far more effective use of land in such a small country as ours, as is the case in every other country in Europe, is to build apartments.

The problem with this is that, if the apartments built in Maghull are anything to go by, our architects couldn't design one that wouldn't be laughed at in Germany, Holland or France if you put a gun to their heads.

With a cocktail of town planners who can't plan towns, architects who can't architect their way out of a paper bag and builders without the skills to build an acceptable apartment.

I fear the green belt will be changing its shade to brick coloured sometime soon.

John Miller,
Maghull

More comprehensives and turn Eton into flats!

I can understand the way Jack Colbert (Champion, July 3) feels with regard to the way governments use statistics and 'initiatives' to con the electorate into believing that unemployment is falling.

I am not a financial whizz-kid, but what I do know is, that if you pull money out of circulation you will create economic stagnation.

Let's be realistic, paper money and coins are nothing more than pieces of paper and scrap metal if they are not used for trading. And if the members of this government are an example of the standard of education that is being offered at Oxford, Cambridge, Eton, and Harrow, then I think they should be refurbished, and made into flats – that way it would ease the housing shortage. And as for education, bring back the comprehensive schools.

When the next election comes round, Jack, remember all that has gone before.

Chris Grogan,
Skelmersdale

Everything is an aspiration

I enjoyed the most positive article Jim Sharpe wrote recently about how the local community can help itself in so many ways. It gave me a great uplift.

Mind you, that slowly disappeared as the week progressed!

I attended, as a member of the public, at South Sefton CCG meeting and had a chance to ask a question about the possibility of a Maghull Health Walk-in Centre.

The chairman's response was that it was 'an aspiration' – but as there are concerns about the building costs, land ownership etc etc that was all that it was – an aspiration.

So much for all the wonderful headlines a while back from politicians that we were getting one!

That made me think that things do come in threes – as we have for how many years now been waiting for our 'aspirational' Thornton Bypass and our aspirational Maghull North Railway station. Of course we are told by politicians of all hue they are working on it! (usually around election times).

At the same time I read that we are to lose our ambulance station.

We already have a 'toy' police station if you want to see a policeman.

And over the years our bus services have slowly been cut – don't be ill and want to get to Aintree for instance on a bus in the early evenings!

As I said I started off the week feeling positive reading Jim's article – but somehow that was rather short lived!

Tony Kneebone,
Maghull

Birthday polish

While most men were out washing cars last Sunday, proud steam locomotive owner Keith Nicholls gave his pride and joy a birthday polish as Montalban reached its 100th anniversary. The loco didn't get a day off though from its duties at the West Lancashire Light Railway in Hesketh Bank.

Ban radios from gardens

Now that the sun has come out, out come the selfish people and their radios.

No more relaxing and reading in the garden, you have to listen to their music.

Sometimes it's all day – why do these thoughtless people never think of others?

They (radios) should be banned from gardens.

I hate to say it but, roll on the rain so we can have some peace.

Channel 4 wrong over call to prayer

It was with disgust but not surprise that I learned of yet another victory to be handed to the multiculturalist appeaser brigade of Britain.

This victory, courtesy of the halfwits of Channel 4, is the news that the Muslim call to prayer during their observance of the month of Ramadan, is to be broadcast into our homes to, as Channel 4 put it, 'provoke those who see Muslims only as extremists.'

It would be hard to debate on Muslim extremism or any Muslim matter due to the bias shown in the media in favour of all things Islamic or multicultural.

Junk mail pasta

I strongly urge people to ignore Mrs B Taylor's recent request regarding junk mail.

Please don't stop the junk mail.

Being a poor pensioner, I have found an excellent use for it.

I boil it up in my pressure cooker until it becomes like mush, add a carton of pasta sauce and sprinkle it with some grated cheese. If I eat this three times a week it makes a significant saving to my budget.

It's quite delicious and slightly reminiscent of a pasta dish I used to be able to afford.

Furthermore, I have worked out that due to these savings, if prices stay the same, I will be able to make a start on paying off the arrears on my gas bill in four years or so.

Help spread the joy of reading

Imagine what your life would be like if you were denied the right to read?

For my wife Judy and me, it would be simply intolerable.

Unfortunately, it's a reality for the estimated 207,000 people living with sight loss in the North West who face a considerably limited choice of titles in formats they can access (there are almost two million people living with sight loss in the whole of the UK).

My wife Judy, who is a fellow book lover, has undergone four eye operations due a detached retina. Although this has affected her sight, thankfully she's still able to read the books she loves.

Currently, only 7% of all books are fully accessible to blind and partially sighted people and that's why we're supporting this year's Read for RNIB Day on Friday, October 11.

Royal National of Blind People (RNIB) wants to change the story for people with sight loss by making many more books accessible.

It costs more than £4,000 to make one title in Braille, audio and giant print.

So, join us to celebrate the joy of reading and whether it's a Mad Hatter's Tea Party, book sale or sponsored reading relay, every penny you raise will fund RNIB's vital reading services. To find out more, call 0845 345 0054 or visit www.readforrnib.org.uk.

How to stop bogus 'water board' callers

Report by Evelyn Robinson

HOUSEHOLDERS in South Sefton are being warned to be on their guard against the threat of bogus callers.

The Consumer Council for Water (CCWater) has produced a list of top tips to stop people falling foul of distraction burglars or bogus callers.

Such criminals pretend to be from a utility company or another organisation to trick their way into a home before stealing money and valuables.

Over a quarter of the incidents reported to police from April, 2012 to March, 2013 involved someone claiming to be from a water company or the water board.

These callers may appear to be wearing something that looks like a water company uniform.

CCWater advises that before unlocking the door, people must ask to see identification and then call the company, not using any number provided by the doorstep caller.

Those who would like even more protection are encouraged to register a password beforehand with their water or energy company. This is then quoted by the caller as proof they are from that organisation.

Dame Yve Buckland, chair of the Consumer Council for Water, said: "Bogus calling is a very disturbing crime because it deliberately targets vulnerable customers."

"We want to make sure everyone has the information they need should someone unexpectedly come knocking, and we have a section on our website www.ccwater.org.uk to help people protect themselves against bogus callers claiming to be from the water company or 'water board'."

Anyone can visit the CCWater website to choose their water supplier and print off contact phone numbers along with a list of top tips to keep near the telephone.

'At any time' parking restriction plan for road

SEFTON Council is proposing to introduce 'At Any Time' parking restrictions at the junction of Alexandra Road and Vermont Road in Brighton-le-Sands.

The move comes after complaints that cars parked on and around the junction are causing an obstruction.

Blundellsands Ward Labour Councillor Veronica Bennett is asking for residents' views before the changes are implemented.

Cllr Bennett said: "Before Sefton Council introduce these new parking measures, I am seeking the views of residents on Alexandra Road and Vermont Road about a proposal to introduce new parking restrictions. The plans will prevent parking at the junction of the two roads."

"Both Alexandra Road and Vermont Road are narrow, between 5m and 6m, and there have been some genuine concerns raised about vehicles getting round the corner when other vehicles are parked close to the junction."

"As a councillor I have been asked to either approve or oppose spending council money on this scheme. I want to balance the need of vehicles seeking access with the parking needs of local residents and would like to get the views of people living on Vermont and Alexandra Road so that any decision is made on the basis of residents' wishes."

To have your say, email Cllr Veronica Bennett at Veronica.Bennett@councillors.sefton.gov.uk

Many Sefton pub landlords 'working 18 hours a day'

Report by Jim Sharpe

MANY pub licensees in Sefton are working up to 18 hours a day and struggling to survive says Sefton Central MP Bill Esterson who claims they are being exploited by the big pub firms.

The Campaign for Real Ale (CAMRA), recently revealed that 60% of publicans tied to the big pub companies earn less than the minimum wage and 60% of these licensees make less than £10,000 a year. Mr Esterson said: "I have met a number of Sefton Central licensees in the past few months and all raised concerns about the difficulties they are having."

"Many tell me they are struggling to survive on the pitifully small amount they get for running their pubs."

"I agree with CAMRA that what we are seeing is outright exploitation of people trying to keep small businesses going, while all along being bled dry by unscrupulous business practices."

"Landlords I've spoken to are all working 15 to 18 hours a day to keep their pubs going – pubs at the heart of our communities."

"But they are finding themselves unable to reinvest in the business to help them grow and attract the customers they need to survive."

The government backed a call for statutory regulation of pub chains earlier this year – after earlier rejecting the proposal.

Mr Esterson added: "Pubs are vital for Sefton Central communities and are valued highly by local people. We need to help them thrive and stem the ever increasing rate of pub closures."

Go the Extra Mile

The friendly NHS stop smoking team in Sefton have helped thousands of people in the area to quit cigarettes – and they can help you too. Why not go the extra mile and drop in to any of their start-up sessions to start your smokefree journey.

Mark, from Bootle, decided to go the extra mile. Read his story here...

"I started smoking regularly when I went away to University in the late 1980s. It began with a few cigarettes at first, when I went out with friends socially, as almost all of them were either social or confirmed smokers. Then I moved into a house where all my room mates smoked heavily, so before I knew it I was smoking up to 20 cigarettes a day. Unfortunately, this habit carried on for more than 20 years."

Most of my life I've had a lot of dental problems. I was constantly getting toothache and suffered with a lot of infections. I found out from my dentist that smoking was a major cause of these problems and she informed me that her surgery was going to ask a nurse from the NHS Stop Smoking Service to call in to her surgery on a weekly basis to help some of her patients to quit smoking."

I decided I'd had enough of smoking cigarettes, so I agreed to attend the stop smoking sessions. I was tired of being a smoker, tired of being addicted to an expensive drug that was ruining my health, as was apparent by the poor condition of my teeth. I also found it really annoying and embarrassing smelling of tobacco smoke all the time, having bad breath and stained fingers and teeth. It was time to stop and stop for good."

I met Maureen, one of the smoking cessation nurses, who gave me a lot of advice and encouragement in helping to quit. I'd never tried to stop smoking before so deep down I was concerned I would find it impossible to stop, especially as I'd smoked for such a long time. I used nicotine patches and a nicotine spray to help control the urge to smoke. The first two weeks did feel strange not lighting up a cigarette 20 times a day, but using NRT (Nicotine Replacement Therapy) this soon passed and, eventually, I reduced the strength of the patches and then stopped using them altogether."

I wouldn't have been able to quit smoking if it wasn't for Maureen, who has made quitting easier than I expected, being really helpful and positive about my achievement."

Since stopping I have found I have more money available. I'm not wasting it buying expensive cigarettes anymore or damaging my health in the process - and my health has improved a great deal. I have more energy and feel more alert. I would advise anyone thinking about going to the Stop Smoking Service to do it. You've got nothing to lose and an awful lot to gain. If I can stop smoking then anyone can."

Blue Badge charge hike is just sneaky stealth tax

NEVER mind the quality – feel the weight.

You apparently could apply this to the 'Blue Badge' application form which according to a letter sent out to my brother (who is registered disabled) by Sefton Council should be filled in because the one he has is soon to expire.

I'll get back to this form in a moment.

First though, this letter indicates the best kept stealth tax secret I've come across in a long time.

Until the beginning of this year, a Blue Badge issued to disabled drivers and according them some parking privileges, cost £2. In the penultimate paragraph of the letter, it casually mentions that 'due to national changes in the way Blue Badges are issued' has risen to £10 – a 500% increase.

Now I don't know if this cash goes to the borough council or straight off into central government's coffers – and I don't really care.

But it does seem to me that a 500% increase simply slipped onto some of the most vulnerable and elderly of our citizens is just plain wrong. How on earth can costs have risen by this amount – Government 'cuts' or no Government cuts? And though finding an extra £8 may be difficult for a hard-pressed citizen, I doubt if the extra revenue will really make much difference to the deficit in either central or local government.

I would be interested to know when and by whom this swingeing increase was slipped through.

But the nonsense doesn't end there. Oh no. You can pick up a Blue Badge application form (assuming you can find a parking place) at Southport One Stop Shop, Cambridge Arcade (Southport), Bootle One Stop Shop or Sefton libraries.

Then you have to "provide all requested evidence, photographs and fee" and all this must be photocopies only.

And they provide you with 'guidance notes.'

And finally you must POST (their capitals, not mine) the completed thing to Sefton Council. But, for heaven's sake, just how large is this application form? The letter advises you to have your completed form weighed at the Post Office because the Royal Mail will not deliver "items that do not have sufficient postage".

So as well as pinching £10 from a disabled person, you are expected to fork out probably quite a lot of dosh to get the form posted back.

Why? If you can pick up the form at a library, why can't they accept a completed one?

Or can you deliver it to the council offices in person? The letter certainly gives the impression that you cannot.

Assuming you can't – and it would be hardly worth a trip to the offices in Southport only to be told to go buy some stamps and POST it like you were told! – then why not?

Of course a few people probably get a Blue Badge dishonestly, and maybe a £10 fee and unspecified postage may just deter them.

But most folk who qualify genuinely for a Blue Badge have one because they are simply, and through no fault of their own, unable to walk very far – and certainly not loaded down with shopping.

But it is the sneaky way this increase has been slipped in that gets my goat. That and the complications put in your way even when you want to pay up.

Police arrival is 'massive' boost to Homewatch

Mike Woodward (left) chairman of Maghull and Lydiate Homewatch Association along with treasurer Alan McDonald and secretary Lynne Fairclough, welcome Merseyside police officers Linda Phelps on Hilbre and Kit Clapcott on Murphy's Law

AS part of the recent National Homewatch Week, Maghull & Lydiate Homewatch Association held an information presentation at Maghull Leisure Centre.

Various leaflets of information on security issues were available but the highlight of the afternoon was the presence of the Maghull Neighbourhood Police team, who brought along their mounted companions.

A spokesperson for Magull & Lydiate Homewatch said: The police horses attended and were very popular with all ages.

"The police officers were extremely patient in answering the various questions from the public and the attendance of all the various police officers was a massive boost to the association. "It shows just how the Police and Homewatch can work together.

Jim's story is a winner!

CROSBY resident and writer Jim Finn has won a short story competition.

Entries in the Prescot Festival competition had to be under 1,000 words and had to befit the theme of 'War and Peace' to be in with a chance of winning the accolade along with a cheque for £100.

'A Tragic Contrast' tells the story of a mother and child enjoying life at home and strolls in the park while the father fights war abroad.

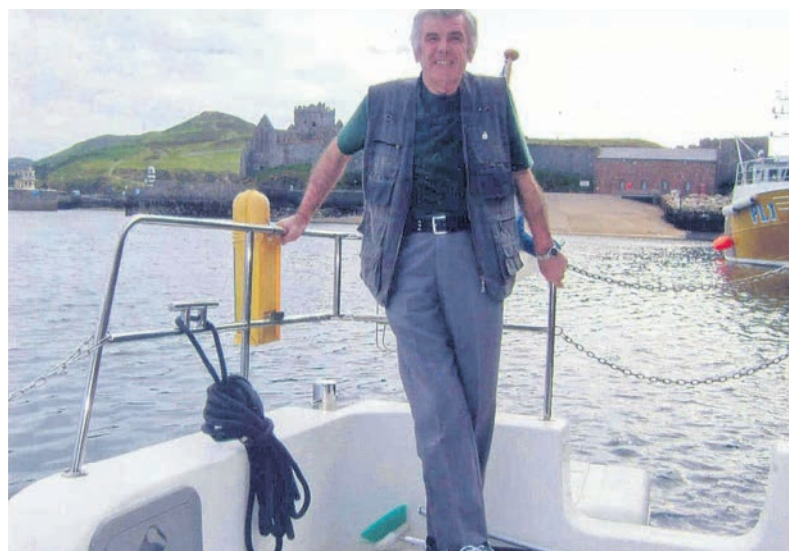

But peace at home becomes shattered when a bomber targets the park and devastates their world.

"I wanted to show the futility of war and how degrading it can be" said author Jim.

Jim has been writing all his life and has over 50 poems under his belt.

He used to recite at the Arts Centre and participates in weekly readings at Crosby Library.

Steve Rawling and Ramada Plaza Southport manager, Enda Rylands

It is a very brave decision to take the plunge and change career after years in a job you know so well.

However, that is exactly what 58 year old Bootle resident Steve Rawling did and after 30 years in the plant hire industry he now devotes his time to charity work, making a difference to the lives of people all over the North West.

If that isn't enough, on July 26, he will be embarking on an ambitious charity ride from Lands End to John O'Groats with other committed fundraisers.

Steve said: "In 2006 I decided go to university as a mature student and went to Liverpool University to study Sociology for a year followed by Irish studies in the History department.

HOPEFULLY WE CAN MAKE A BIG DIFFERENCE
TO THE LIVES OF MANY PEOPLE
AND THAT IS ALL THAT MATTERS

"Whilst there I completed several reports on social exclusion and homelessness and it was during this time that I decided to find a position that would give me the opportunity to make a difference in the lives of those people whom I had researched."

A determined Steve then started working on a voluntary basis for two drop in centres and after a chance meeting, took on a another position with long established but little known charity A.M.I.E. (Association for Mentally Infirm and Elderly - Charity number 326894).

Steve adds: "From previous experience I found that unless there was funding for a project from the government or a trust fund, things generally didn't happen."

Nigel ... pedal power

Steve Rawling and his biking companions are undertaking the most gruelling ride of their lives

Steve then decided to take matters into his own hands and presented a long term business plan to the charity.

Steve said: "The plan involved going into the private sector to fundraise, then using those funds to create self standing businesses that can provide jobs and training opportunities for people who would normally be excluded for one reason or another from the job market." Steve then decided to kick start the fundraising with his own event and, with four others, organised a charity bike ride from Lands End to John O'Groats.

The event will take a total of eight days and is no mean feat! Steve added: "I really hope to raise enough to start a themed café followed by a children's nursery which will be used to employ my targeted groups for employment and training.

"The most important aspect of all this is to create businesses that are self sustainable and allow the profits to be reinvested back into the business.

"I am over the moon that people have volunteered to do this bike ride with me and also to Southport FC and the Ramada Hotel who made it possible for us to have a free stop over while taking part.

"Hopefully we can make a big difference to the lives of many people and that is all that matters."

The charity relies solely on donations and without them would find it very difficult to continue its good work.

Please support Steve and his fellow riders, Andy, Gemma, Gerard and Nigel, in this ambitious challenge and dig deep to help keep this great cause going.

Scorching success for Proms event

by Evelyn Robinson

GLORIOUS sunny weather provided the perfect conditions for Crosby's 'Last Night of the Proms' event.

Organisers of the music and fireworks extravaganza say this year's event was the best yet, with pupils from St. Mary's College showcasing their musical talent.

An audience of over 2,000 family members, friends and local music lovers enjoyed the event at the school's Blundell Park playing field on Little Crosby Road.

The concert featured around 200 talented young musicians from the college and its preparatory school, The Mount, conducted by the school's Director of Music, Andrew Byers.

There was also a guest appearance from the choir of Great Crosby Catholic Primary School and popular BBC Radio Merseyside presenter, Roger Phillips.

As compere for the event, he introduced all the old favourites from the famous 'Last Night of the Proms' concert at the Royal Albert Hall.

A solo xylophone performance from sixth former Robert Howat from Blundellsands, a percussionist with the Liverpool Philharmonic Youth Orchestra, received one of the biggest cheers of the night.

St. Mary's College Principal, Mike Kennedy, said: "Proms in the Park has fast become one of the real highlights in Crosby's events calendar and this year's concert was easily the best one yet."

We couldn't have asked for better conditions this year, and I would like to thank all the performers and audience members for supporting the event and making it an evening to remember.

As ever, the concert was a wonderful showcase for the wealth of musical talent here at St. Mary's, and a rousing way to end the school year."

Students fundraise for the 'Touched by an Angel' Charity

Report by Evelyn Robinson

HUGH Baird students have raised £1,250 for the 'Touched by an Angel' Charity at Alder Hey Children's Hospital through several events over the last few months.

Touched by an Angel is a charity set up in memory of Joseph Mitchell, who was cared for in Alder Hey for most of his short life.

Mr and Mrs Mitchell wanted to give something back to the hospital as a way of saying thank-you for the support and care they were given during their son's treatment.

They set up the charity in Joseph's memory, to raise money for the Alder Hey Bereavement Centre.

As part of their Enterprise module, Hair and Beauty students at Hugh Baird raised money for the charity by running a series of activities at college.

They held a raffle, tombola and a lucky dip as well as receiving generous donations from their friends and family.

The inspiration for the fundraising comes from the close ties that many of the students have to Mr and Mrs Mitchell.

Together, the students' efforts brought in over £1,250 for the charity.

They presented the cheque to Irene Axon from Alder Hey on Wednesday, June 18.

Irene said: "We are delighted that the students chose Alder Hey for their fundraising activities. The donation will go to the Bereavement Centre in honour of Joe Mitchell and will go towards buying photo albums, memory boxes and other little things that mean a lot to families in the same situation as Joe's."

Sue Billington, personal tutor for the group said: "I am extremely proud of the work and devotion that the students have put in to fundraising for Alder Hey. It's great to know the money is being used in such a meaningful way."

Tickets go on sale for Royal Court show

TICKETS have gone on sale for the first Royal Court Liverpool show of 2014.

The Court will be co-producing Mary O'Malley's dark comedy Once A Catholic with London's Tricycle Theatre.

Directed by Kathy Burke (Nil By Mouth, Gimme Gimme Gimme and Harry Enfield) the show will be starting in London before Christmas then transferring to Royal Court Liverpool in January.

Kathy Burke has built up a reputation as one of the UK's leading theatre directors and was last in Liverpool directing The Quare Fellow at The Liverpool Playhouse in 2004.

Once A Catholic was originally written in 1977 and it ran in the West End for two years. Set in the mid 1950s the show shocked many but made even more laugh out loud. It is a piece of theatre that lampoons the Catholic Church of the 1950s and any Catholic girls and boys of a certain age will recognise all of the characters involved.

Once A Catholic will run from Wednesday, January 22 to Saturday, February 8, 2014.

For more information call 0870 787 1866.

'Britain's bluest comic' returns to town's theatre

Report by Ollie Cowan

'BRITAIN'S bluest comedian' Roy 'Chubby' Brown will be performing at Southport Theatre on Saturday, July 27 and has been speaking to the Champion about his love for the resort.

"I've been coming to Southport since the 70's and my abiding memory of this lovely town is a wonderful dress shop on Lord Street.

"I bought a dress for my wife many years ago and she looked absolutely stunning in it, so everytime I saw her wear it, I was reminded of Southport.

"My team of engineers and producers always enjoy coming here and we are guaranteed a great atmosphere.

"People can come and watch a show for a few hours and forget their everyday troubles and instead laugh at mine.

Roy's material is considered by many to be

Roy 'Chubby' Brown;

Code NA

outrageous, however he has always warned his audience, "If easily offended please stay away."

"Everyone has an opinion but I just say why don't they come down and see the show for themselves and make up their own mind," he added.

"There's a great crowd in Southport and they like a good laugh."

Roy has become a huge superstar without appearing on television, some may say his success is because he does not appear on our TV screens.

This warning has worked in his favour – forbidden fruit!

His comic appearance multi-coloured funny suit and flying helmet is not far removed from the traditional circus clown. His delivery, style, comic songs, funny walk/dance is all contained in a genuinely funny man.

He has toured the UK every week of every year for the past 30 years and his DVD's still sell in their tens of thousands.

‘HELP TO BUY’ INCENTIVE BUILDS DEMAND FOR ORMSKIRK HOMES

MORE than 50 home buyers across Lancashire are already on their way to owning a brand new home thanks to Help to Buy – and that includes a number of first time buyers and families in Ormskirk.

It's proof that this Government-backed scheme is meeting its objectives to stimulate the housing market and get people moving.

It does so by making homeownership easier to afford with the offer of an equity loan worth up to 20% of the property price.

Unlike previous help schemes that only benefitted first time buyers, Help to Buy is giving a wide range of home buyers the chance to relocate, including families and those facing a change in circumstances such as divorcees.

Claire Jarvis, sales director for Redrow Homes (Lancashire) said: "We've already had five customers take advantage of Help to Buy at our Oakwood Park development in Ormskirk. And we're working with many more to help them access the help they need to buy one of our homes.

"Help to Buy is really taking off in Ormskirk, where we've seen an increase in the number of people asking about the scheme. Some people think it's too good to be true and can't quite believe that they are eligible. We're happy to tell them that first time buyers, families and those starting over after a change of circumstances can all benefit."

At Oakwood Park, in Wigan Road, it's currently available on three and four-bedroom homes, priced from £197,995. Buyers could see the initial cost of one of these sought-after New Heritage Collection homes reduced to only £158,396 with Help to Buy.

The Help to Buy price is made up of a 5% deposit from the customer and a mortgage for 75% of the property's full value. The remaining 20% share is covered by the equity loan, which is interest free for five years and can be repaid when the customer has more funds available or when they resell.

"Help to Buy customers should be able to look forward to mortgage repayments that are easier to afford, even if they don't have a hefty lump sum to put down as a deposit or if they lack substantial equity in the property they are moving from," Claire adds.

The new homes at Oakwood Park are within walking distance of Ormskirk town centre with shops and leisure facilities close at hand. With a good choice of schools nearby, it's an area well suited to buyers with families. Plus with strong road and rail links, the development's an ideal base for commuters working in Liverpool, Preston or Manchester.

To discover how you could purchase a brand new home with Help to Buy, visit Oakwood Park, where the sales office and show home are open Thursday to Monday from 10am to 5.30pm.

For more information and to see all the latest offers and availability at Oakwood Park visit: www.redrow.co.uk/oak or call 01695 229973.

Or to find out more about help to buy with Redrow visit: www.redrow.co.uk/helptobuy.

PRAYER TO
THE BLESSED VIRGIN

Never known to fail.
O most beautiful flower of Mount Carmel, faithful Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this necessity, O Star of the Sea, help me and show me herein you are my Mother, O Holy Mary Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succour me in my necessity.
(Make Request).
There are none that can withstand your powers. Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to thee (3 Times).
Sweet Mother, I place this cause in your hands (3 times).
Thank you for your mercy towards me and mine. M.S.
This prayer must be said for three days and after that the request will be granted and the prayer must be published. 42825

WOODWARD
Marion Mary

On 2nd July 2013
You were tired mum, we saw it in your face, The end was coming at a fast pace, But, how we wanted you to stay In time we came to understand Your will was not our command Life just became too hard for you We didn't want to see... but we knew You had to be where you could fly Mum, it's so hard to say goodbye You were ours for all those years, We'll miss you and cry our tears But we also know that's okay... For we'll be together again some day
Now at rest mum, free from pain You're with Dad now, together again
Love you forever, your Baby Ann, Lenny, Lee & Steph x x x x

Meet the new Honda Jazz ES Plus

Honda Jazz buyers can now get more for their money.
Code NA

HONDA has freshened up its smallest offering by offering supermini shoppers the chance to get more for their cash.

You might have forgotten about the Jazz in the hunt for your next small car, as it's been around for a while, but the company has released a new version, called the ES Plus.

At £14,995 the car replaces the existing ES model but throws in extra equipment, including 16-inch alloy wheels, cruise control, and privacy glass.

For more information about the Jazz range visit Honda's website at www.honda.co.uk or pop into your nearest dealer.

Even bigger boot space for VW Golf

The latest and larger VW arrival

ANYONE thinking of playing Golf with their next new car purchase can now up their carrying capacity by going for the new estate version.

VW confirmed that the load-lugging twist on its family car contender will cost £765 more than the equivalent hatchback version, with prices for the Golf Estate starting at £17,915 for the 85bhp 1.2-litre TSI version.

The company said in a statement: "Like the multi-award-winning

Golf hatchback, the Golf Estate is available in S, SE and GT trim levels, with the same high levels of equipment, refinement and safety.

"At the business end, the Golf Estate's loadspace volume has been expanded from the 505 litres of its predecessor to 605 litres (loaded up to the back seat backrest), versus the 380 litres of the Golf hatchback."

The Golf Estate is available to order now.

Worldwide unveiling for all new Mazda3

Mazda introduced its all-new Mazda3 hatchback last week at several locations around the world.

Hundreds of journalists, bloggers and social media attended a fanfare-filled series of events, which took place simultaneously at five locations including three European cities.

London, Istanbul and St. Petersburg were chosen (along with New York and Melbourne) for their insightful, spirited and stylish character, which nicely mirrors the properties of its new five-door compact.

Mazda's top-selling model of all time becomes the third member of a new generation featuring the automaker's "KODO – Soul of Motion" design and its full range of convention-defying SKYACTIV Technology.

The new Mazda3 thereby joins its award-winning siblings: the Mazda CX-5, a compact SUV launched in 2012, and the mid-sized Mazda6.

"Everything about the all-new Mazda3 is exciting, from the way it looks and feels to its dynamic performance, nimble responsiveness, reliability and operating costs," says Mazda Motor Europe President and CEO Jeff Guyton.

"We already have big expectations for this model's success in terms of sales, but I suspect it may even surprise us."

Insignia gets beefed up for country jaunts

Vauxhall hope the new Insignia will be a hit with rural types Code NA

VAUXHALL has created a toughened-up version of its Insignia with occasional forays into the countryside in mind.

Ideal for the sort of motorist who might tow a caravan or horsebox across tricky terrain, the Insignia Country Tourer takes the company's family-friendly estate and treats it to all-wheel-drive and a raised ride height, in a vein similar to Audi's A6 Allroad and Volvo's XC70.

Vauxhall spokesman Stuart Harris said: "The Insignia Country Tourer is perfect for a winter holiday, on snowy roads, or simply when the going gets tough."

"Even on urban roads its robust looks give it strong stand-out appeal." The Insignia Country Tourer will be officially unveiled at the Frankfurt Motor Show in September, with details of UK prices due to be confirmed later this year.

Lydiate is a beacon for every classic car show

Life On Cars
DAVID SIMISTER
www.lifeoncars.blogspot.com

THERE was a back-to-basics vibe about last weekend's Lydiate Classic Car Show which I couldn't help but love.

If you were there – and chances are that, if you're a petrolhead in this part of the world, you were – you'll know what I'm on about, but if you weren't then you missed a treat.

For the past six summers there's been a gathering of all things automotive and vaguely old in a field behind the parish hall, but it's got better and better to the point where I reckon it's blossomed into a bit of a gem in the classic car nut calendar.

Sure, there was the usual brigade of Triumphs, MGs and Healey Sprites lapping up the summer sunshine (including a slightly shabby MGB GT owned by a certain Champion contributor) but this year's show in particular really did have something for everyone, with everything from 1930s Rolls-Royces to 1950s bubble cars to the two-stroke clatter of a procession of Vespa and Lambretta scooters.

In fact, my favourite car of the show by far was a 1955 Land Rover – I've got a soft spot for old Series Ones – which had a used 'n' abused look which lent it a nostalgic patina in a sea of glinting chrome and polished paintwork.

Everyone I spoke to at last Sunday's show came up with the same verdict – that it was a cracker, even if you discount the sizzling sunshine which has left my face and arms a painful shade of Parcellforce red.

Scores of classic cars which packed into Lydiate Car Show last Sunday. Code NA

Lydiate's show is, in the simplest terms, a field with some old cars and a couple of stalls thrown in, but it's the atmosphere which makes it such an appealing event.

By keeping it simple, the organisers have nailed something even far bigger shows sometimes struggle with. A feelgood vibe.

The best thing, though, was that the £2 entry fee wasn't going to brim someone's pocket – every single penny went to Cancer Research UK, including the sponsorship money provided by Maghull firm P & G Motor Factors, who stepped in at the last minute to provide the volunteers with a bit of a funding boost.

The hi-vis jacketed volunteers running around herding Ford Zodiacs into makeshift parking spaces really were volunteers too – doing it because they loved it – and my hat goes off to them for it.

I love giving a few quid to the charity as much as the next chap but I reckon taking my MG to a classic car show is far more fun than running a marathon or sitting in a bathtub brimmed with beans.

Hat-trick for Purser as Bootle continue good league form but no joy in trophy

FIRWOOD Bootle continued their recent improved form in the Med Imaging Liverpool & District Competition Premier League last Saturday when they made it three wins in their last three fixtures.

Southport & Birkdale elected to bat first at Trafalgar Road but were immediately rocked back when Will Purser clean bowled Mark Fletcher in the first over.

He also sent back the other opener, Dean Skelton, for 18, but when the total had reached 40 he truly ripped the heart out of the Southport batting with a sensational hat-trick which saw the demise of Wim van der Walt (16), Matthew Jackson (0) and Josh Hine (0) in successive balls to leave the home side in almost total disarray at 40-5.

Purser was given excellent support by Mark Prince (2-18) and Chris Cunningham (2-1) and, despite a brave 20 from Scott Lees, Southport & Birkdale expired for exactly 100 in 23.2 overs on a track which was a little slow but otherwise largely blameless for their inept batting display.

The visitors had plenty of time and plenty of overs at their disposal so they were able to play at a tempo of their own choosing, which is precisely what they did. Craig Prince top scored with 28 and, with able assistance from David Snellgrove (23) and Michael Gill (21), Bootle won by five wickets in 27 overs, the match being concluded before tea was served.

The following day was a very different story when Ormskirk visited Wadham Road for a quarter-final tie in the Ray Dugman Knockout Trophy.

A powerful third wicket stand of 130 between John Armstrong (89) and Gary Knight (65) propelled the visitors towards a total of 255-6 after the statutory 45 overs, which left Bootle with a big hill to climb.

Nicky Caunce dismissed Glenn Aitken caught behind off the first ball of the home reply, after which Matty Thompson (55) and Michael Gill (37) raised a promising 96 for the 2nd wicket in 24 overs. The problem was that Bootle had by now fallen significantly adrift of the original asking rate of 5.69 runs per over and the remaining batsmen were unable to raise the tempo sufficiently to bring their side back into serious contention.

The innings limped to a rather tame end at 178 all out in the 39th over, the Australian Matt Morgan taking 6-43 as Ormskirk won comfortably by 77 runs.

Bootle travel to Leigh on Saturday next for a Premier League assignment, starting at 1pm.

Mariners kick off pre-season fixtures against Tranmere

MARINE will play Tranmere Rovers, Southport and Bala Town in a series of pre-season friendlies at the Arriva Stadium.

This Saturday, July 13, Marine entertain a strong Tranmere Rovers side managed by Ronnie Moore. The match kicks off at 3pm. The following Tuesday, July 16, Conference Premier team Southport are the visitors with a kick off at 7.30pm.

Price: My fighting heart got the better of me on the night

Report by David Raven

ANFIELD boxer David Price has said his 'fighting heart' got the better of him after he suffered a second straight defeat to American Tony Thompson last Saturday.

Things were looking bright for 30-year-old Price as he started the fight with several combinations which led to Thompson ending up on the canvas in the second round.

But Price failed to capitalise on his momentum and the roaring Echo Arena crowd were silenced several rounds later when Thompson unleashed a devastating body hook.

A standing count was issued by referee Marcus McDonnell but it was clear Price could not continue and his dreams of a world title fight any time soon have taken another serious blow.

After the fight he said: "Maybe my fighting heart got the better of me.

"The instructions were to take my time and stick to the game plan but I didn't manage to do that.

"I put him down at the end of the second round and I thought 'I only need to catch him again and he'll go', but obviously that wasn't the case.

"I just need to come to terms with another defeat - another major disappointment. It was a big occasion so I was more tense than usual so maybe it was that."

Price was being trained by former world champion Lennox Lewis, who told the Champion ahead of the fight: "I just kept telling David boxing is an art, here's your canvas, now go out there and create a perfect picture.

"I have also told him to be more relaxed in his fighting style and it has started to show in his training leading up to the fight.

"David has no limits, the thing about him is he can go out there and be as good as he wants to be - it's completely up to him."

But afterwards he said of the 6ft 8ins fighter: "We know what we need to fix so we'll go back to the drawing board and fix it, David is still British champion and that's not easy to do. He's a big man in the game.

"David is a great guy and he can rebound from this but there are sacrifices that have to be made to take your game to the next level."

Meanwhile making his professional debut was light-heavyweight Lee Boyce, from Maghull, who lives in Bootle and came up against Swansea's James Todd.

Boyce was defeated on points but his manager complained after being told the fight was cancelled before organisers decided to make alternative arrangements.

Instead of three-minute rounds, the fight was reduced to two-minute rounds in order to meet a midnight curfew imposed on the arena.

Damian Jones, Boyce's manager, said: "Lee fought well but in the end we could have no arguments with the decision. But being told the fight was cancelled just minutes before he was due on caused him a lot of stress which he could have done without for his first professional fight."

£260m regeneration vision

RESIDENTS and businesses are being asked to play their part in shaping a £260m regeneration plan which will breathe new life into north Liverpool.

A consortium led by Liverpool City Council with the support of Your Housing Group, Liverpool Football Club and other partners including Keepmoat Ltd has unveiled proposals to transform the Anfield area of the city close to and around the stadium.

They now want members of the public, especially those living and working in the affected areas, to help them refine the proposals and to provide valuable feedback.

The ideas and concepts unveiled include new housing, shopping facilities, public space, office buildings, a hotel and the creation of a major new pedestrian-friendly avenue and public square.

There is also a proposal to complete the restoration of Stanley Park and to build a food hub at its centre which would offer food retail units, production and training facilities.

As part of the scheme, Liverpool Football Club has stated its preference is to expand its stadium subject to detailed commercial and social feasibility studies and the community and home-owners' support.

Altogether, the proposals could amount to some £260m and create 700 long-term jobs in one of the most deprived areas the city.

They follow dramatic improvements which have already been made. These include millions of pounds worth of new housing, the restoration of the Isla Gladstone conservatory in Stanley Park and the construction of the new Four Oaks Primary School and Mere Lane Health Centre.

The proposals are designed to accelerate the improvements already made and to create the right environment for economic development, employment growth and personal wellbeing.

In detail: the visio

Housing

Housing renewal activity has been ongoing in the Anfield area for eight years. This activity is being led by Your Housing Group and private home builder Keepmoat.

Your Housing Group

Your Housing Group has already delivered more than 200 new and refurbished homes in the Anfield area in an investment programme worth more than £24m. It owns and manages more than 850 homes in the Anfield/Breckfield area. Work already undertaken includes the restoration of terraced homes and innovative refurbishment projects which have seen traditional terraced houses combined to create larger family homes. A further investment of some £16m-plus is anticipated in coming years. The organisation is also responsible for supporting a range of community groups and projects in the area.

Keepmoat

Since 2007, some 15 hectares of land has been assembled transforming a largely derelict and undesirable place to live into a destination where real change is now being realised. Keepmoat have to date completed three developments totalling 231 new energy-efficient homes with the third phase of 167 more new homes underway. With the support of a successful Regional Growth Fund bid, proposals are currently being developed for concluding delivery of the Masterplan with a further phase of some 250 new homes. A new primary school and health centre have also been built.

The Avenue

It is proposed to create a wide, high quality avenue which would link the Walton Breck Road High Street with Priory Road, bisecting Stanley Park along the existing Mill Lane. The avenue would improve access to the park and connections between the Liverpool FC stadium and Goodison Park stadium and would be a major focal point for the area.

The route would be largely closed to vehicles and might be used to host both match-day and non match-day events such as festivals and markets. Discussions are being held about what the avenue would be called.

Village Square

A public square, with high quality landscaping, would be created at the junction of the new avenue and Walton Breck Road.

The square would act as a buffer zone between residents and the stadium and would also be a focal point for match-day and non match-day activity plus commercial and retail activity such as shops, offices and other uses.

n for your Anfield

Training Hotel

The proposed training hotel could be situated on the High Street and would help to anchor the wider programme of general improvement to the street. It would have 100 rooms and create 50 jobs, with the capacity to offer training to 10 people at any given time in facets of the hospitality trade. A local charity, Positive Futures, would own the hotel and it would be operated by a local company, Isla Gladstone, to ensure it maximises opportunities and benefits for the local community. It is anticipated that a leading hotel brand would also be sought to assist in the hotel's operation and marketing.

Business Hub

New commercial and office premises would be built in the Village Square to create the environment for new enterprises.

It is anticipated that two major anchor tenants would be sought for this new commercial space. These anchor tenants would attract other complementary businesses, creating enterprise, employment and training opportunities. Talks are being held with possible end users.

Food Hub

The proposed new Food Hub would be a 10,000 sq ft facility built on the proposed avenue in Stanley Park and would offer direct employment, training and education opportunities in food production, preparation and service, and would create direct links between food producers and the local community.

A number of commercial partners are in advanced talks regarding their potential involvement in the Food Hub concept.

The Stadium

In October 2012, Liverpool Football Club confirmed its preference was to stay and expand Anfield stadium subject to detailed commercial and social feasibility studies and the community and home-owners' support.

The club believes the wider Anfield regeneration vision being led by Liverpool City Council is an important step towards transforming the area for the better.

Stanley Park

A range of ideas to complete the restoration of Stanley Park are being suggested by the partners. These include the Food Hub and improvements to the existing car park. Other ideas include the construction of an interactive sculpture park which people could use for exercise, urban art projects, events and horse riding. There could also be a project to grow vegetables, linking in with the Food Hub concept.
